GAME MODES

There are 3 different game modes: World Tournament, Lord of the Court and Pick-Up Game (Full Court and Half Court). Each of these modes offers a different experience for the user.

World Tournament

In World Tournament, travel across the U.S.A. to take on the best team at each court. Along the way, you'll unlock the best street ballers in the land, and gain access to more courts, along with some secret courts. Note: Difficulty levels cannot be adjusted for continued World Tournament and Lord of the Court games.

- Select New or Continue to either start a new tournament or continue with your current tournament. Press the A Button to accept, the B Button to back out.

In World Tournament, you can start with any of the available teams. You'll also be able to swap in any one of the street players onto your team at the Select Players screen. You'll get his move set as well. However, you can only choose one when you start. You'll gain access to the other 7 players and their move sets by beating them throughout the mode. You'll also be able to unlock additional courts and teams. Be advised, winning isn't enough to unlock everything, you'll need to pay cash for the courts and players as well. Nothing's free!

If you don't have enough money to unlock a court, go back to a court that you played on before to try to earn some cash, or go play a pick up game and earn some money there.

Some teams and courts will not be unlocked until you play through World Tournament a few times, so be sure to keep playing in order to find all the teams and courts!

Lord of the Court

In Lord of the Court, you play as the Home team and the other teams will come to your house to challenge you. As you defend different courts, you'll unlock movies and even a secret character or two.

- Select New or Continue to either start a new Lord of the Court or continue with your current Lord of the Court progress. Press the A Button to accept, the B Button to back out.

Note: World Tournament and Lord of the Court are 1-player modes with the ability to have other human users play on your team. The earnings from these modes will be saved to the progress for the first user only. Progression through these modes will be by the first user as well. Other human users are teammates from game to game.

Street Hoops also uses an autosave feature, which will automatically save your progress in World Tournament and Lord of the Court modes. This information will be saved along with the progress for the first user.

Full Court & Half Court Pick-Up

Full Court and Half Court Pick-Up allow you to select the court, teams and play mode that you and your opponent will face off at. In this mode, certain courts and players will be locked out until you unlock them in World Tournament. Note: For winning pick-up games, you'll earn $100 per user.

- Once you have selected a Pick-Up Game mode, set the number of players that will face each other. Scroll up or down to choose from 5 on 5, 4 on 4, or 3 on 3 for Full Court play. For Half Court, you can select 3 on 3, 2 on 2, or 1 on 1. Press the A Button to accept, the B Button to back out.

COURTS AND TEAMS

Run N' Shoot (Atlanta, GA)

"Run N' Shoot" Available at beginning

This court offers the best competition in the city of Atlanta. Be ready to argue any foul called, because people come for the show as well as the game. The play is charged and rough; if you don't want to get dirty, don't play.

Shakespeare Park (New Orleans)

"Shakespeare Park" Available at beginning

By far the best court in New Orleans, Shakespeare Park is also the only covered outdoor court in the city. The iron roof keeps the court dry in winter and the players cool in the summer. The competition is average to above, but rough play has caused only minor bruises and bloody noses.

Farmer's Park (French Lick, IN)

"Farmer's Park" Available at beginning

The level of play at this court varies from day to day. Normally it's a laid back place to practice jump shots. Occasionally, on the weekends some of the area high schoolers and local college talent come by and the games can get more heated. Not much trash talking done here. Just jumpers in your face. The pace of the game is a little slower and less flashy than in other places, but the fundamentals are strong. Here the farmer's sons practice strong shooting and ball handling skills. If you play here, don't be lulled by the lack of flashy dunks, these guys can strip you and fire off a three pointer all in one move.

Madison Square Recreation Facility (Baltimore, MD) "The Dome" Unlock in WT mode

The level of play here is very good. Kids of all ages come to learn and develop their game. League play is as intense and energetic as pro play. Definitely not for the weak at heart. Bring your "A" game.

During the Midnight tournament, top teams made up of collegiate age players can take on real pros.

11th and Lombard Courts (Philadelphia, PA) "11th and Lombard" Unlock in WT mode

If you come here, be ready to play with talent and guts. The skill level of the regulars at this court is pretty high. There are collegiate as well as street players testing each other's moves here all the time. If you want to play with the big dogs, be prepared for the not so random shoulder and elbow in your face. Getting the ball and making your break to the hoop is what counts, not the bruise you got for getting stripped.

Jackson Park Courts (Chicago, IL) "Jackson Park" Unlock in WT mode

The competition here can be grueling, even for a visiting pro. Star players in the pros have been humbled by the cream of this court. Here the name of the game is "Win." The play is fast-paced and physical. The attitude is as intense as the game. Ballers here talk as big (and sometimes bigger) than they play.

Mosswood Park (Oakland, CA) "The Moss" Unlock in WT mode

The game here is hardcore. If you can't make the grade, the court regulars will tear you a new one. The best games run in the late afternoon, so if you're a beginner, go practice early in the day before the big dogs blow in for the show.

West 4th Street (NYC) "The Cage" Unlock in WT mode

The most famous park in the world. Best in the City; don't go if you can't play. You'll most likely get a nickname your first time down. If you're lame, you will get goosed on from the players or the people that crowd the fence. Very physical, flashy play with lots of trash talking at all times.

Venice Beach Courts (Venice, CA) "Venice Courts" Unlock in WT mode

This is one sure-fire place to find a pick-up basketball game while the sun is shining. The first court, lined by bleachers, is reserved for full-court games and the action is intense, theatrical and definitely entertaining. The facility also has four half-courts featuring non-stop 3-on-3 games.

If you're in the mood to shoot some hoop and make the scene at the same time, you can't do any better. The courts are on a first-come-first-served call-it when you get there system, so bring some friends and be prepared to take on teams ranging from local playground legends to beach bums.

You can see the pro big boys out for some fun, and don't be surprised if you end up playing with some Hollywood names as well.

Rucker Park (NYC)

"The Rucker" Unlock in WT mode

Known by many as the number one street ball court in the U.S, the level of play at The Rucker is very high. The best players in the East play here. Many pro players come to test their skills. There's a lot of contact inside the paint and trash talking goes on regularly. Crowds gather from all over the city when a tournament is going on at Rucker. Hot dog moves and one on one confrontations are part of the game here. Timid players need not come out.
